

Dr. Hiroshi Yamakawa

Hiroshi Yamakawa is the Director of Dwango AI Laboratory, the Chairperson of the Whole Brain Architecture Initiative (WBAI), a specified non-profit organization and former Chief Editor of the Japanese Society for Artificial Intelligence (JSAI).

He is also the Visiting Professor at the Graduate School of Information Systems the University of Electro-Communications, a Fellow Researcher at the Brain Science Institute at Tamagawa University, a Senior Researcher at the Keio Research Institute at SFC, a Visiting Researcher at the Tokyo University, a Visiting Researcher at the Artificial Intelligence Research Center of AIST and Visiting Researcher at the RIKEN Center for Advanced Intelligence Project.

He is specialized in AI, in particular, cognitive architecture, concept acquisition, neurocomputing, bioinformatics and proxy voting technology. He is one of the founders of the Whole Brain Architecture Seminar and the SIG AGI (artificial general intelligence) in Japan, and is one of the leading researchers working on AGI in Japan.